Fort Stockton is a regional center for government, medical care and retail sales. Federal, state and regional offices located in Fort Stockton include the Texas A&M Cooperative Extension Service Region 6 Headquarters, the Texas Department of Public Safety, the United States Department of Agriculture, the Texas Workforce Commission and the United States Forestry Service.

The Pecos County Memorial Hospital and associated medical services provide care for large area of the Big Bend and Trans-Pecos region of Texas. A trade area that includes 10 counties and cities along the Mexican Border generates retail sales in the community. Counties in yellow are part of the Fort Stockton trade area. Trade area population is roughly 100,000.

INDUSTRIAL PARK:

The Pecos County Industrial Park is located near the county airport, off of Interstate 10, on highway 285. Stages one and two of the industrial park complex have been completed. The first tenant at the park was Cielo Wind Energy and now has Halliburton, Ortiz, LLC and Exclusive Aircraft Interiors. The park is 300 acres with utilities to the sites. Long-term leases are available from the county. The industrial park does have Foreign Trade Zone status.

ENTERPRISE ZONE:

Fort Stockton has established an Enterprise Zone to provide incentives for commercial enterprise.

Utilities

Electric

Texas-New Mexico Power Company supplies Fort Stockton. The Western Division serves Fort Stockton with a 138 KV transmission line, with a terminal capacity of 62.5 MVA and a 69 KV transmission line with terminal capacity of 70 MVA. Texas-New Mexico Power Company is a member of the ERCOT (Electrical Reliability Council of Texas) System.

Industrial customer's requirements are analyzed to determine the most economical and advantageous rate schedule for the customer. The type of load maximum KW demand and KWH usage determines the customer's rate schedule. Texas-New Mexico Power Company is competitive with rates of other utilities in Texas. For more information, write:

Texas-New Mexico Power Company
P O Box 1606
Fort Stockton, TX 79735

Rio Grande Electric and West Texas Utilities Company in the outlying areas of the County also serve Pecos County.

Gas

The City of Fort Stockton supplies Fort Stockton. West Texas Gas is the city's supplier with two delivery lines with a maximum pressure of 400lbs. West Texas Gas has the capability to tie into three major lines within the area, which are served by Valero, Delhi (Texas Oil & Gas) and El Paso Natural Gas. Fort Stockton is the Gas Capital of the United State, so gas is easily available. Rates vary between $3.65/MCF and $4.50/MCF with base rate of $ 7.50.

Water

The City of Fort Stockton serves Fort Stockton with water. The main source is well water from the Belding Area. The system is designed to move 7.5 million gallons daily. The city has a 7 million gallon storage capacity with an average pressure of 60 lbs. The system has 6 and 8 inches lines and it's capable of serving additional needs. The well water is processed through a Reverse Osmosis Water Plant. This gives Fort Stockton a better quality of water.

The Belding Area has approximately 55,200 acre-feet of water. The City has recently acquired an additional 84,400 acre-feet with 16-1/2 sections of water rights in the western half of the County and an adjoining part of Reeves County.
